Travel Delay Cover — Frequently Asked Questions

These answers explain the Sample Travel Insurance Policy (fictional, for the ClausePath demo). Clause numbers in brackets point to the policy. The insurer decides every claim [CL-5].

Is my situation covered?

My flight was cancelled because of a typhoon. Am I covered?
Weather, including typhoons, is a covered cause [TD-2], and a cancellation counts as a travel delay [DEF-5]. You need Plan Plus or Plan Premier [PLAN-1], and you must have bought the policy before the typhoon warning was announced [EX-1].

My flight was two hours late. Can I claim?
Not under this cover. A delay counts only when the flight leaves at least 4 hours late or is cancelled [DEF-5].

I bought the policy the day the typhoon warning came out. Does that matter?
It can. Causes announced or forecast before you bought the policy are excluded [EX-1]. If it was the same day, the insurer checks the exact times, so keep the purchase confirmation.

I was late to the gate and missed my flight. Is the hotel covered?
No. Missing a flight because you arrived late is excluded [EX-2].

I extended my trip without changing my policy. My later flight was cancelled.
Delays outside the period of insurance are not covered, including days added without amending the policy [EX-3].

My flight home was cancelled on the last day of my policy. Do I need to extend my insurance?
No. When a covered delay keeps you from getting home, your cover extends automatically until your replacement flight leaves, for up to 7 days, at no extra cost and without telling us [TD-6]. Hotel, meals and transport during those days are paid with the same daily and per-trip limits [PLAN-2]. If you choose to stay longer than the replacement flight you could take, the extra days are not covered [EX-3].

What can I claim?

What expenses are covered?
Meals and non-alcoholic drinks, accommodation for each night you wait, local transport (including to another airport for your new flight), and calls or mobile data needed to rearrange travel [TD-3].

What is not covered?
Alcohol and minibar, sightseeing and shopping, upgrades, the new ticket or change fees, anything the airline already paid for, and costs after your replacement flight leaves [TD-4].

How much can I claim?
Plan Plus pays up to USD 150 a day and USD 500 a trip; Plan Premier up to USD 250 a day and USD 1,000 a trip [PLAN-2].

The airline gave me a hotel voucher. Can I also claim my own hotel?

Not for the same night. Costs the airline paid or agreed to pay are excluded TD-4. Your own meals or transport outside the voucher can still be claimed.

I paid in yen. How is it converted?
At the exchange rate on the date you paid [TD-5].

Documents

What do I need to send?
The airline's written confirmation of the cancellation or delay, your original ticket, the boarding pass for your replacement flight, itemised receipts, the claim form, and a copy of your photo ID [CL-1].

I didn't get a letter at the airport. Is it too late?
No. Ask the airline's customer service by email after your trip [CL-2]. A forwarded cancellation email from the airline also works.

My receipt photo is blurry.
Retake it flat, in good light, with the date, amount and currency readable. Unreadable receipts cannot be checked.

Should I send my bank details or passport by message?
Never. Bank details and ID go only through the secure claims page [CL-1].

Payment

When will I get paid?
Within 3 business days after all documents are received, or within 10 business days if the insurer needs to check something; they will tell you why and when [CL-4].

How long do I have to claim?
3 years from the date of the delay [CL-3].

Using ClausePath

Do I need an app or an account?
No. Open the link in our text message. It works only for your claim and expires after 30 days.

Is ClausePath's answer the final decision?
No. ClausePath reads the policy and your documents to guide you; the insurer decides [CL-5].

How do I stop messages?
Reply STOP to any text message.
